

nike air vapormax pas cher

Posted by xiaxue123 - 2019/07/02 05:09

Photo: IC

Newborn babies bring joy nike air max flair pas cher , of course, but also troubles regarding how to name them.

Names matter and that is why Chinese parents go to great lengths to devise auspicious and fitting names for their children.

"It is better to teach your children a craft than to give them a thousand pieces of gold; it is better to give them a good name than to teach them a craft," said an advertisement for 99qumingzi, a popular website that provides naming services for new parents.

Decades ago, Chinese parents cared less about names.

"Probably because their parents did not go to school, some used 'dog' or 'bitch' for given names," said Hu Weining nike air max plus tn pas cher , head of household registration in Honggutan New District in Nanchang, capital of East China's Jiangxi Province. Her team, part of the city police, deals with registration documents for new babies, and she has worked there for 20 years.

She said that better-educated parents have started to care about names in the last two decades and even pay for names for their children.

According to Chinese custom, names that have been used by elder people in the family cannot be used for babies. Young parents do not like their children to share their names with others.

"Uniqueness is the new standard. Many people use complex Chinese characters to differentiate their child from others," Hu said.

On January 1 nike air max 180 pas cher , 2016, China relaxed its one-child policy to allow all married couples to have two children. In the last year, millions of babies were born, and how to name them has become a sweet headache.

"It can't be tacky, or strange. It should sound nice, but first and foremost it must be different from others," said Wang Chunhua nike air max 270 pas cher , a 30-year-old mother with a 7-year-old girl who gave birth to a boy in November 2016.

Wang spent weeks going through Chinese dictionaries, looking for a proper name for her son. Finally, she named him Yuxuan , which has a nice meaning, and is not common where she lives.

However, according to a December report, which was based on data about 5.4 million babies born in 2015 and conducted by Qimingtong nike air max 90 pas cher , a naming service company, Yuxuan was the fourth most common name for newborn boys that year.

New trend

"Names reflect the change in the nation's culture," Hu said.

Thirty years ago, babies were given names like Wei (greatness), Aiguo (patriotism) or Xiuli (gently beautiful), now Chenxi (sun rays) and Haoran (righteousness) are more popular.

In 2015, 4 nike air max 95 pas cher ,034 new babies were born in Honggutan, where Hu works. From January to November 2016, there were 4,695 newborns, up 16.38 percent year on year.

Some police districts in China have developed computer systems for registrants to search whether a name has been used and by how many people.

Younger parents are more influenced by pop culture, including romance novels and popular TV series. Zixuan, a name which has roots in the heroines and heroes of TV series nike air max 98 pas cher , is remarkably overused. It comes in many different Chinese characters.

"My boy Zixuan was admitted to the hospital, and there happened to be four Zixuans in the same ward," a mother said.

Good business

With the second-child boom, business has been good for naming services companies. Duan Lingang, 58, a self-professed name expert based in Jiangxi, founded his business five years ago.

Duan improved his proficiency after learning from a master in the 'I-ching nike air vapormax pas cher ,' or 'Book of Changes,' in Beijing. He charges 600 yuan ($92) for a name.

Duan calculates the baby's five "elements" - metal, wood, water, fire and earth - from the date and time of birth, before giving names accordingly.

"A baby's name can make up for the element he or she lacks from birth, bringing good fortune nike air max 97 pas cher ," he said.

Names matter so much that Chinese parents are not settled with buying only Chinese names but also English names.

The website specialname was by British entrepreneurs to give Chinese babies English names. The website claims it has given names to 295,379 babies.

"The English name you give your children will change their future," the website proclaims.

HANOI Feb. 9 (Xinhua) -- Vietnamese movie star and music producer Ngo Thanh Van known as Veronica Ngo in English plays the role of a killer named Tien in a U.S. film starring Will Smith Joel Edgerton and Noomi Rapace.

Van arrived in Los Angeles late last year to begin filming her scenes in the 90-million U.S. dollar "Bright" a production directed by David Ayer and written by Max Landis who involved in the hits "End of Watch" in 2012 "Fury" in 2014 and "Suicide Squad" in 2016 Vietnam News Agency reported Thursday.

The fantasy thriller is about a policeman played by American actor Smith and a humanoid called Orc played by Australian actor Edgerton who work together to protect a magic wand from evil forces.

"Bright" is the second U.S. film in which Van has appeared. In 2015 she played one of the supporting roles in a sequel to the 2000 Hollywood blockbuster "Crouching Tiger Hidden Dragon."

Van learned kungfu with experienced martial artists before filming her scenes in New Zealand and China. "I'm confident of my ability to work beside foreign colleagues" said the 39-year-old actress. Enditem

"

NAIROBI, Nov. 25 (Xinhua) -- English Premier League (EPL) side Southampton FC midfielder and Kenya national team captain, Victor Wanyama, is counting loses after his house was cleaned by robbers on Monday night.

Wanyama's home was broken into when he was on Saint's duty during their away match at Aston Villa where his team held on to second on the log five points behind leaders Chelsea after a late Nathaniel Clyne goal salvaged a 1-1 draw.

During the break-in Wanyama lost possessions worth hundreds of thousands of pounds including his prized new Ran. wholesale air max black cheap jordans Cheap Air Max Cheap Air Max 90 Cheap Air Max Shoes nike air max 270 wholesale clearance air max shoes wholesale Cheap Air Max 270

Womens Air Jordan For Sale Air Max 1 Clearance

=====