Small Business Grants Business Articles | September 8, 2010

Business grants have been mistaken with other things many times. Firstly what is business grant has to be made very clear.

Many people don't know what is a business grant. Firstly what is business grant needs to be made clear. It came into picture as companies have to borrow money from bank as loans and in return have to pay huge interests on the loan. So, government started giving small business grants to the companies setting various rules and conditions. These grants are so beneficial as neither any interests nor the repayment of the grant is required. For these grants from the government the firms need to give reasonable reasons to them. Everyone can't earn these grants until the government genuinely feels that it would somewhere help in the economic growth of the country. The granter that is the government examines the company like how much money has been already invested in the business, what profit has it earned, how many individuals have been hired, have they already taken loans etc. The most deserving one finally gets the grant.
